Mission Statements

LeTourneau University

LeTourneau University is a comprehensive institution of Christian higher education where educators engage learners to nurture Christian virtue, to develop competency and ingenuity in their professional fields, to integrate faith and work, and to serve the local and global community.

Educator Preparation Program

The mission of the Educator Preparation Program is to prepare knowledgeable, effective, and caring educators who will be Christian witnesses and role models as they enhance the lives of young people.

The information found in this handbook is provided to help answer questions about the LeTourneau University's Educator Preparation Program. This is not to replace the guidance and advice provided by the advisors. When in doubt, always contact the faculty and staff with any questions or concerns that you may have.

It is important that you learn from the information enclosed. The certification process is complex, involving state and federal regulations, certification examinations, and at least one state agency, the Texas Education Agency (TEA). The School of Education works hard to make the process as simple as possible.

What you get out of the program is what you put into it. Resolve now to develop your own program of study in the content area and in how to be an effective teacher. Read, read, and read some more. Your goal is to shape yourself into the best, most effective teacher you can be.

When planning your program of study, here are some principles you can keep in mind to help you.

- Establish and keep a valid email address. Make sure your LETU account is one that you check regularly. We will use this email address to send you important messages and notices. When you graduate, you will need to know that your LETU email address will go away. Be sure to keep a current email address in your TEA account.
- > Stay aware of important deadlines and dates. As a future educator, it is vital practice. Keep a planner or calendar so that you are aware of and do not miss deadlines.
- ➤ Keep up with your GPA. The minimum overall GPA required for certification is 2.5. The overall GPA considers all courses taken at all colleges and universities. All education courses require a grade of C or higher.
- Always be preparing for your certification exams. The combination of completing a state-approved course of study with the right GPA, having had a successful clinical teaching experience, having a conferred degree, and passing your certification exams will allow LeTourneau to recommend you for a teaching certificate. Here are some things about the state exams that you should know-
 - Preparation for the exams begins in your freshman year. Be aware of what is covered in your certification area and know that the core classes you are taking are preparing you for the exams. For example, certification in either of the Core

- Subjects exams means that you will be tested on geography and history in the Social Studies sections. Take those classes seriously!
- Passing a representative practice test is required before approval is granted for each state exam. You may take the practice test as often as necessary, but you must score at least 80% to receive approval for the state exam.
- To be approved to register for a practice exam you must be enrolled in the certification preparation course or have completed the course. Once the practice exam is passed with an 80 or higher, you will only have five attempts to pass each state exam.
- You will have to pay for each attempt at the state exam.
- ➤ Work closely with your advisor. While you may be able to choose courses on your own, your advisor knows when courses are rotated and will be able to give you the best advice on what to take each semester.

Essential Functions of Teaching

As an accredited institution by the State of Texas, our primary charge is to prepare teachers for service in public school settings. As such, our students are required to complete multiple field placements as part of coursework in which they must be able to perform the essential functions of teaching. Therefore, the ability to perform these essential functions is a requirement for continued enrollment in the Educator Preparation Program.

The educational environment includes specific physical and mental demands. The demands described here are representative of those that must be met by an individual to successfully perform the essential teaching functions required to complete field experience in education courses.

Physical/Environmental Demands

- move small stacks of textbooks, media equipment, desks, and other classroom equipment;
- occasional travel to school campuses;
- occasional prolonged and irregular hours;
- prolonged use of computer and repetitive hand motions;
- monitor students in a variety of locations with noise, activity, and inclement weather; and
- independently sit, reach, grab, pull, hear, see, speak and move about the classroom and campus daily.

Mental Demands

- maintain emotional control under stress;
- communicate effectively (verbal and written);
- provide instruction;
- interpret policy;

 monitor students for understanding of instruction, personal safety, and behavior management.

Reasonable accommodations may be made to enable individuals with disabilities to perform the essential functions.

The foregoing statements describe the general physical and mental demands and are not an exhaustive list.

Necessary Personal Skills of an Educator

(The following information has been provided by the Texas Education Agency for compliance purposes only. No endorsement of the information sources is implied.)

Patience - This is the single most important skill. Kids these days are stubborn, and many lack the inherent respect for authority that we were taught at an early age. Spending a single day in a room full of raucous teenagers is enough to send any human being to the looney bin, which is why every good teacher needs patience to find a way to work with his students and earn their respect.

Adaptability - Different kids learn in different ways, and some lessons need unique teaching tools. Good teachers know how to adapt their lesson plan to their students, so that all the kids learn optimally. This trait can take some experience and practice in a classroom setting, so give it time.

Imagination - Whether you teach high school chemistry or kindergarten, nothing is a more effective tool than using your imagination to create new and interesting ways for your students to learn. You may be inspired by the work of another teacher, mentor, or a TV commercial - it does not matter. All that matters is that you take the initiative to find new ways for your kids to learn the material.

Teamwork- Teachers could have a tough time without a wide variety of support staff around them. If you feel alone, your school principal, administrative staff, parent-teacher committee, and more are often available to provide you help. By working as a team, you may have an easier time increasing your students' ability to learn and have fun.

Risk Taking - Sometimes to get a big reward, you may need to take a risk. Being a teacher is about finding a way to get kids to learn, and sometimes these new learning methods can be risky. Stick to it and you will soon find that others are following your teaching example.

Constant Learning - You can never know too much when you are a teacher, especially when it comes to the best way to teach your students. Great teachers are constantly looking for ways to expand their horizons with courses, workshops, and seminars. Make sure you don't become stagnant by taking courses to keep the content fresh in your mind.

Communication - No teacher will succeed if they do not have effective communication skills. Clear, concise, and to the point - the better your communication skills are, the easier your lessons will be. There are many different types of classes available to help some teachers who may need help improving their skills.

Mentoring - Teachers need to always remember that, aside from parents, they are one of the most consistent mentors in a child's life. That means always setting a good example. Teachers may also have students that they spend extra time with being a mentor, which means that being a good role model is even more important.

Leadership - One of the other most important skills each teacher must have (besides patience) is leadership. Your students need someone to guide them, to be in charge, and set the tone of the class. Leadership is a difficult skill, meaning you may want to get outside help if you feel that you could use more work on this skill, or any other for that matter.

Professional Disposition Policy

The LeTourneau University School of Education offers a curriculum designed to prepare individuals for the teaching profession. However, satisfying the curriculum and testing requirements alone does not qualify a candidate for recommendation by LeTourneau University to the State of Texas for teaching certification. All candidates are expected to demonstrate that they are prepared to instruct children and youth. This preparation results from the combination of successful completion of university coursework and the demonstration of important characteristics and dispositions that all teachers should possess.

Dispositions are a vital component of teacher preparation. According to the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), they are defined as the "professional attitudes, values, and beliefs demonstrated through both verbal and non-verbal behaviors as educators interact with students, families, colleagues, and communities. These positive behaviors support student learning and development." Prospective teachers at LeTourneau University are expected to develop and practice these attitudes, values, and beliefs throughout their preparation.

Field-Based Experiences

Texas Administrative Code §228.2 defines field-based experience as introductory experiences for a classroom teacher certification candidate involving, at a minimum, reflective observation of EC-12 students, teachers, and faculty/staff members engaging in educational activities in a school setting.

During coursework throughout the Educator Preparation Program, candidates must participate in observations of students and field-based experiences in the public, charter or approved private schools. These experiences, especially those early in the program, can be a valuable tool for personal and professional growth. It is the candidate's responsibility to meet program requirements and maintain all documentation pertaining to observations and field-based experiences.

Field-based experiences must occur in the content area and grade range in which a student is being certified. For example, a student who is seeking certification in Mathematics 4-8 cannot complete field experience in an 8th grade History classroom.

50 hours of field-based experience are required and must include at least 25 hours of active engagement. This means that, rather than just sitting and observing, candidates must be actively engaged in what is occurring in the classroom. These activities could include:

- listen to or prompt a struggling reader as he reads aloud to improve fluency
- work on sight words with a struggling reader
- guide a student who is practicing a skill (math concept, writing, history timeline, etc.)
- teach vocabulary using semantic webs or concept maps
- teach a mini lesson on a specific skill or concept
- prepare a game to enhance or reinforce a concept being taught (small group or whole group)
- assist struggling students

- prepare flash cards and use them with a small group or individual student
- work with one group that needs special monitoring while the class is involved in cooperative learning
- help students edit their writing
- read a story aloud to the class
- establish proximity to a student who is sometimes off-task
- work with students at a center

Candidates are required to complete an observation log for each course, each semester. No observation logs will be accepted that are incomplete or without the classroom teacher's signature. Additionally, classroom logs are to be submitted with reflections. If there are any questions regarding what approved observations are, contact the course instructor or the Director of Educator Certification.

A copy of all field-experience logs and reflections must be submitted prior to placement for clinical teaching.

Clinical Teaching

Clinical teaching, also known as student teaching, is a minimum of 490 hours, unpaid placement at a TEA approved public, charter, or private school. A cooperating teacher and a university field supervisor will be assigned for close monitoring, supervision, and support throughout the clinical teaching experience.

Applications for clinical teaching must be completed by November 1 for spring placements and by April 1 for fall placements. Candidates should not contact school districts for placements. Students should work with their advisor to determine when applications for clinical teaching should be made.

Code of Ethics

In addition to candidates being knowledgeable in the content they are preparing to teach; candidates are required to demonstrate and practice the dispositions identified by the Code of Ethics and Standard Practices for Texas Educators found in Texas Administrative Code §247 at https://texreg.sos.state.tx.us/public/readtac$ext.ViewTAC?tac_view=4&ti=19&pt=7&ch=247&rl=Y.

All educator candidates and program staff must adhere to the Texas Educator Code of Ethics. Violations will be handled individually based on the violation's severity. Determination of consequences may range from reprimand to dismissal and may include notification to the State Board of Educator Certification.

Communications

During the program, it is imperative to maintain communication with your instructors, advisor, university supervisor, and staff of LeTourneau University. All electronic communication will be delivered via LeTourneau email so check that account often for program updates, requirements, deadlines, and important announcements. Please maintain professionalism, including timeliness, in responding to emails sent regarding the program.

Complaints

If you believe you have a complaint concerning the Educator Preparation Program, please contact your academic advisor. Complaints will be heard and resolved informally, if possible. If the complaint is not resolved, you may appeal to the program chair. Information about formal student complaints can be found at https://www.letu.edu/student-life/formal-student-complaints.html.

For issues or complaints about this educator preparation program that cannot be resolved by the program chair or university, you may contact the Texas Education Agency, Complaints (located in the blue banner at the bottom of the home page), or mail to Correspondence Management, Communications Division, Texas Education Agency, 1701 North Congress, Austin, TX 79701-1494.

Criminal Background Check and Preliminary Criminal History Evaluation,

Candidates must undergo a criminal history background check prior to field-based experiences (including clinical teaching) and employment as an educator. The public-school campuses are responsible for completing the name-based criminal background check for field-based experiences. The LeTourneau University Educator Preparation Program expects candidates to have a clear criminal history before admission. Applicants with certain criminal convictions or deferred adjudications may not be eligible for placement and thus not able to pursue certification. For more information, candidates may review Texas Occupation Code, Chapter 53, Section 53.001-53.105 and/or Texas Administrative Code Chp 239, Subchapter B §249.16 for further clarification of offenses leading to ineligibility of certification.

Applicants and/or candidates should be aware of the following:

Having a criminal history might prevent applicants from attaining a placement and/or completing their clinical teaching or becoming certified educators based on the following factors:

- the nature and seriousness of the crime;
- the relationship of the crime to the purposes that certification is required to become a professional educator;
- the extent to which certification might offer an opportunity to engage in further criminal activity of the same type as that in which the person previously had been involved;
- the relationship of the crime to the ability, capacity, or fitness required to perform the duties of a professional educator;
- the extent of the applicant's past criminal activity;
- the age of the person when the crime was committed;

- the amount of time that has elapsed since the person's last criminal activity;
- the conduct and work activity of the person before and after the criminal activity;
- if the person has completed the terms of their probation or deferred adjudication;
- the evidence of rehabilitation; and
- other evidence, including letters of recommendation.

Applicants may request a Preliminary Criminal History Evaluation (PCHE) prior to admission into the educator preparation program-

- TEA will provide an evaluation for a non-refundable online fee of $50
- The evaluation will give TEA's written opinion about the individual's eligibility for certification and is based on the individual's self-reported criminal history
- The evaluation is voluntary and non-binding
- You may request a Preliminary Criminal History Evaluation (PCHE) only if:
 - You are enrolled or planning to enroll in an educator preparation program, or you are planning to take a certification exam for initial educator certification, and
 - You have reason to believe that you may be ineligible for educator certification due to a conviction or deferred adjudication for a felony or misdemeanor offense.

Requesting a Preliminary Criminal History Evaluation (PCHE):

- 1. Read all FAQs to ensure that you meet the criteria for a preliminary criminal history evaluation. Do not submit a PCHE request or make payment if you do not meet the criteria.
- Gather the following information, which TEA will require to complete your evaluation. To prevent delay in the agency's response, be prepared to submit all documentation with your request.
- All offenses that you believe may make you ineligible for a teaching certification,
- Your statement about the circumstances upon which your arrest(s) were based,
- All court documentation showing the formal disposition of each offense and related charges. To obtain such documentation, contact the clerk in the jurisdiction (typically a county) in which you were arrested.
- 3. Provide payment through Texas Online. Retain the Local Reference Number, which is your payment confirmation that will be included in your request. Please be aware that the fee is non-refundable.
- 4. Complete the online Preliminary Criminal History Evaluation request form. Upon your submission, you will receive a confirmation email that includes a copy of the information you entered.

Once the request and documentation are received, TEA staff will begin evaluation of your criminal history. Within 90 calendar days, staff will send you an evaluation letter by email that provides you with the agency's opinion about your potential eligibility for educator certification. The evaluation will be based on the information you provided as part of your request. If you need to submit more information during the review, you can respond to your request confirmation email or fax to 512-936-8247.

Note to applicants/candidates: If during the program of study, a person becomes ineligible for placement because of a certain criminal conviction he/she may have to withdraw from the course and/or program of study and may not be able to complete their course, certification, and/or degree requirements. In addition, if upon successful completion of an educational program a candidate is convicted of certain offenses, they may become ineligible for certification/certification examination. Please refer to eligible for placement and thus not able to pursue certification. For more information, candidates may review Texas Occupation Code, Chapter 53, Section 53.001-53.105 and/or Texas Administrative Code Chp 239, Subchapter B §249.16 for further clarification of offenses leading to ineligibility of certification.

Fingerprinting and Background Checks

At the time of application for a Texas teaching certificate, each candidate is required by the state to submit his/her fingerprints to the Texas Education Agency for a criminal history check by the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI).

Additionally, LETU requires field experience in public schools. This requires a student to pass a criminal background check conducted by the school districts. For the background check, the candidate will need to show a state-issued ID, which is either a driver's license or a DPS issued state ID.

Teacher candidates who have ever had an arrest that resulted in deferred adjudication, probation, or a conviction should be aware of the possible consequences related to the offense. The Commissioner of Education may suspend or revoke a teaching certificate, or refuse to issue a teaching certificate, for a person who has been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor for a crime that relates to the duties and responsibilities of a teaching professional. If there are questions, please contact the Director of Educator Certification to discuss the potential ramifications.

Military Service Credit

Candidates may be granted course credit for prior military training or education in accordance with LeTourneau University service credit practices, as developed and applied by the registrar's office. Military service must be related to the certification sought to be considered. Credit towards courses may be granted based on an evaluation by the registrar's office of the service member's military records. No credit will be given toward field-based experiences, clinical teaching, practicum, or internship requirements. Information can be found at https://www.letu.edu/admissions/resources-for-veterans.html.

Prior Coursework Credit

Candidates who are not military service members or military veterans may be eligible to substitute prior or ongoing service, training, or education, provided that the experience, education, or training is not also counted as a part of the internship, clinical teaching, or practicum requirements, was provided by an approved EPP (Education Preparation Program) or an accredited institution of higher education within the past five years, and is directly related to the certificate being sought. (TAC §228.35(a)(5)(B)

Coursework substitutions will be considered by the Registrar's Office when transcripts are submitted. Candidates should direct any other questions concerning prior credit to the Director of Educator Certification.

TEXES Exams

The Texas Education Agency requires that all students seeking certification in Texas perform satisfactorily on comprehensive examinations. Texas Examinations of Educator Standards (TEXES) exams are scheduled and administered by Pearson in accordance with the requirements provided by the Texas Education Agency (TEA). The tests contain multiple choice/selected-response questions and may include constructed-response questions (e.g., open-ended written or oral responses).

For most certifications, candidates must take and pass a minimum of two exams – content (what you teach) and Pedagogy and Professional Responsibilities (how you teach). Degree plans that include Core Subjects, English Language Arts & Reading 4-8, English Language Arts & Reading/Social Studies 4-8, ESL or Special Education will require a third exam.

TEA allows each educator preparation program to determine when candidates in their respective programs qualify to take TExES exams. The LeTourneau University School of Education has established the following requirements for candidates:

- Must be admitted to the Educator Preparation Program
- Must be enrolled in or have completed the Certification Preparation course (EDUC 4963 or EDUC 4002) or have approval from the program chair
- Must pass the appropriate representative practice test with a score of 80%. If taking the Core Subjects exam, students must score a minimum 80% on each section

Once the representative practice test is passed, candidates will receive directions for registering for the TExES exam by email from the Director of Educator Certification. A representative practice test is required prior to approval for each state exam.

Candidates must go to http://tx.nesinc.com and create a testing account. The account information must include your TEA ID number, first name, last name, and date of birth as it appears in the TEA Educator Profile on the TEA website.

Once the account is created, the candidate can register for exams that have been approved. Registration requires payment of the testing fee and is done prior to scheduling the appointment. Testing can be scheduled when you register, or you can come back later to schedule.

There is no fee to reschedule an exam within 170 days (about 5 and a half months) of registration. If you withdraw your registration, you will be refunded your exam registration payment minus $25.

Students who are not successful in their attempt on the state exam must remediate before another approval is entered. Information about what this entails will be individualized for each student based on their results.

NOTE: Candidates are limited to approval for five attempts on all TEXES exams. It is vital that candidates use all available resources and practice test analysis to be adequately prepared before attempting to take the TEXES exams.

Information about the exams can be found on the TExES website at https://www.tx.nesinc.com/.

Dismissal/Withdrawal from the EPP

It is never anticipated that a student will be asked to leave the Educator Preparation Program. Support is available from program advisor, university supervisor, faculty, and staff to help the candidate with teacher certification. Please seek assistance from these resources when necessary.

If necessary, a candidate may be placed on a growth plan, targeting the areas of deficiencies and support to address and remediate the deficiencies. A committee familiar with the candidate's situation will meet and construct a plan including goals and a specific timeline. Failure to meet the goals in the growth plan will result in dismissal from the EPP.

Dismissal from the teacher certification program may include:

- Unethical behavior
- Poor performance in the classroom
- Repeated plagiarism/cheating
- Failure to comply with remediation
- Violations of the Texas Educator Code of Ethics

A candidate who voluntarily decides to withdraw from the EPP, must send written notice of that intent from a LETU email account to KristalBonner@letu.edu. Your LETU ID# and TEA# must be included in the email. It is important to also speak with the program advisor to fully understand the potential implications of leaving the program. The EPP Withdrawal Form located in the Forms section of this handbook should also be completed and emailed to KristalBonner@letu.edu.

Candidates who are inactive, not enrolled, or fail to communicate with the EPP and/or advisor for four semesters will be removed from the EPP and the TEA system. Candidates will then be required to reapply for admission to the program.

Review of Teacher Candidates

Any teacher candidate referred for review is expected to participate in the process. Refusal to participate will not terminate the process. The level of review will depend on factors such as nature, severity, frequency of the incidents.

Formal Review 1

When a faculty member has concerns about a teacher candidate meeting any of the Professional Dispositions, the faculty member will

- a. Discuss the concerns directly with the teacher candidate and seek to work with the candidate to resolve the difficulties;
- b. Complete a Professional Disposition Review form and submit to the Director of Educator Certification
- c. If a problem arises in the field, the cooperating teacher at the host school district may discuss concerns directly with the field supervisor or Director of Field Experiences who may document the dates and content of the meeting. The teacher candidate should also be included in this meeting.

Formal Review 2

When a faculty member is sufficiently concerned about a teacher candidate's professional dispositions, he or she will meet with the program chair.

- a. A conference will be scheduled, including the faculty member completing the form, teacher candidate, program chair and certification director. During this conference, the review form will be completed and a plan for remediation will be developed. The nature and content of the plan will be dependent on the specific situation. All remediation plans will be stated in measurable, objective terms, include a reasonable timeline, and be signed by all parties involved.
- b. If the candidate fails the remediation plan(s), he/she will be placed on probationary status and elevated to a Formal 3 Review. If the candidate successfully completes the remediation plan, no further action will be taken at this time.

c. The remediation plan may continue for more than one semester, depending on the individual circumstances.

Formal Review 3

If a concern is reported on the same teacher candidate after a Formal 2 Review, the candidate has failed a remediation plan during the Formal 2 Review, or the seriousness of the incident or concern warrant it, the appropriate committee will be convened. This group may consist of faculty, program chair and certification director. The group will meet to:

- a. Review paperwork,
- b. Interview faculty members who have been involved in the candidate's preparation,
- c. Interview the teacher candidate, and
- d. Make a determination regarding the teacher candidate's sustainability to continue the program.

The teacher candidate is afforded due process throughout these proceedings. Following a Formal 3 Review, a letter of appeal may be submitted to the Dean of the College of Education, Arts & Sciences for consideration. The Dean's decision is final.

A copy of the Professional Disposition Review form can be found in the Forms section.

Professional Organizations

Membership in professional education organizations has many benefits, which may include liability insurance at no cost or reduced rates, access to professional literature, and professional development opportunities. As part of the educator preparation program, candidates are encouraged to explore, join, and maintain membership in at least one organization.

Supply and Demand for Educators in Texas

(The following information has been provided by the Texas Education Agency for compliance purposes only. No endorsement of the information sources is implied.)

Over the next decade, there will be an increasing demand for new teachers due in part to a dramatic increase in enrollments and high attrition rates as an aging teacher workforce becomes eligible for retirement.

As hiring trends soar, Texas has once again broken its own record by achieving record-breaking hiring in 2013 with over 4,500 new teachers placed in the classroom.

As demographics change in Texas, there will be an increasing need to attract minority teachers. One of the goals of the SBOE is to have a teacher workforce that reflects the racial/ethnic composition of the state.

In the State of Texas, there continues to be a shortage of secondary math and science teachers. The Texas Education Agency has released the statewide teacher shortages areas: Bilingual Education/English as a Second Language; Foreign Languages; Mathematics (STEM); Science; Special Education.

The Texas Workforce Commission anticipates elementary school teaching positions will add the second-highest number of jobs among all occupations in the state through the end of the decade assuming the economy returns to long-term growth patterns. That is nearly 68,000 new jobs.

Middle schools are expected to add an additional 65,000 teaching jobs during the same time period.

Typically, teachers are in demand for urban and rural areas. Urban and poor communities will have the greatest need for teachers, with more than 700,000 additional teachers needed in the next decade. Urban communities also face the added challenge of retaining their teachers, who may be attracted to the higher salaries offered in wealthier suburban school districts. The urban schools typically open schools with substitutes in the classroom because of the lack of available certified teachers. Some school districts will pay a signing bonus or extra stipend as an incentive if the teacher agrees to teach in an inner-city school or in a shortage area. If a teacher is trying to get a job along the Interstate 35 corridor, the competition will be fierce. The rural areas typically have difficulty attracting teachers because of their remoteness and lack of amenities.

Since some shortage areas have been forced to hire teachers without certifications or to instruct in areas outside of their certifications, preference is given to teachers with a Master of Arts in Teaching, a Master of Education, or a similar graduate degree. Having a master's degree can also equate to higher salaries and more leadership opportunities.
